Field of Glory: Renaissance Tournament

This competition will be for 800 points from any army list book. As some may be aware there are a series of proposed rule changes being tested at the moment. The latest set of rule updates can be found at <http://www.bhgs.org.uk/britcon---field-of-glory-renaissance.html>. However the point costs in this document have since been updated and the new proposed point costs are in the first post in this link <http://www.slitherine.com/forum/viewtopic.php?f=450&t=78661>. As this is the latest information these are the point costs I will use for the tournament with all of the rule changes from the first link.

Players are permitted to submit two lists. The first and primary list must comply with all minimums and maximums from the selected list. This list will be used unless the player has clearly announced that he is using his alternative list during the 'detached shot' section of the setup rules. It is suggested that players become familiar with the setup sequence as laid out in page 177-178 of the rules. The second list may be used only if the 'detached shot' option is being used and must comply with pages 182-183 of the rule book. A secondary list is only available if submitted to the organiser prior to the commencement of MOAB.

All players must provide their own terrain.

Games will be 3.5 hours. Once time is called players will conclude their current phase if it would affect the outcome of the game. There will be two games each day.
